What are Cookies and why do we use them on our website?

Cookies are small data files which often include a unique identifier that are stored on your device when you visit certain web pages. Cookies are useful because they allow a website to recognise a user's device. Like most websites, our website uses cookies that, among other things, let you navigate between pages efficiently, remember your preferences, and generally improve your experience on our website.

They can also help to ensure that advertising you see online are relevant to you and your interests.

To ensure you get the most enjoyable experience out of using our website, as well as the full use of personalised features, your computer, tablet or mobile device ("device") will need to accept cookies.

We also work with selected companies who may also set cookies on your device during your visit to our website. They use the information collected from their cookies to serve ads to you on different products and services. They may also use cookies to track your response to their advertisements, to measure the effectiveness of their advertising or to award incentives or points to their members who respond to their ads.

If you don't accept cookies, some functions on our website will not work. However, if you'd prefer to control or delete cookies from our website or any other website, see the explanation of how to manage cookies below.

What kinds of cookies do we use on our website?

Our website uses the following types of cookies:

Strictly necessary cookies

These cookies provide the services that you have specifically asked for on our website and are essential to enable you to move around our website and use its features, such as check-out and session storing.

Performance cookies

These cookies collect anonymous information on the pages visited. They collect information about how visitors use the website, for instance which pages visitors go to most often, and if they get error messages from web pages. They don't collect information that identifies a visitor and are only used to improve how the website works.

Functionality cookies

These cookies allow our website to remember choices you make (such as your user name, language or the region you are in) and provide enhanced, more personal features, including access to your portfolio of products you have designed or order through us. These cookies can also be used to remember changes you have made to text size, fonts and other parts of web pages that you can customise.

Advertising cookies

These cookies are used to deliver advertisements that are more relevant to you and your interests. They are also used to limit the number of times you see an advertisement and help measure the effectiveness of an advertising campaign. These cookies are usually from third parties.
